

Diversity

Everyone has to be the same,
but honestly that is pretty lame.
I want the world full of different colors.

The same, the same always the same.
What about our personality?
We forget who we are!
And that is terrible,
because we are ourselves.

So please think about the question:

Who are you?